Pre-Arrival in South Africa

Depending on your country of origin, you may or may not require a visa or entry certificate to enter The Republic of South Africa. Please check with the South African High Commission or Embassy in your home country if you may require a visa before you start making travel arrangements. Other surrounding and bordering nationals who may not require a visa or entry certificate may find it useful to acquire a visa since it will ease their entry into South Africa upon arrival. Most airlines will also need to see that you have acceptable immigration documents as they will be heavily fined for carrying passengers without the right and permits to enter the country. - Evidence that you possess the minimum academic qualifications for your chosen course of study.
- Evidence of your ability to meet the cost of your tuition and living expenses in South Africa for the duration of the course.
- The Entry Clearance Officer will also need to be satisfied that the course you intend to follow will enhance your employment prospects in your country upon graduating and also that, you intend to return to your home country upon completion of your studies.

Prospective students are advised not to enter South Africa on visitor's visa with the objective of applying for a change of status at a later date since they will have to also meet the requirements outlined by the Department of Home Affairs.
